

The Muslim Studies Program presents

MUSLIM WOMEN JURISTS

with special guest speaker

Rosemary Admiral

Assistant Professor of History at the University of Texas at Dallas

Description: Women today have complex relationships with Islamic law. I wanted to see how these relationships mapped onto the past, particularly in the case of North Africa. My research found women engaging with the law in creative and strategic ways, not only through the courts but also by way of a number of less formal community spaces that they carved out for themselves.

Monday, January 25

7:00-8:00pm

Free registration at

<https://muslimstudies.isp.msu.edu/about/reg-links>

Organized by the Muslim Studies Program and cosponsored by the African Studies Center, Center for Gender in Global Context, Department of History, Department of Religious Studies, Global Studies in the Arts and Humanities, and James Madison College